The S&P 500® Bond Mega 30 Index Series

Heather McArdle

Director
Fixed Income Indices
S&P Dow Jones Indices

The indices in the S&P 500 Bond Mega 30 Index Series are designed to measure 30 of the largest bonds from the S&P 500 Investment Grade Corporate Bond Index and the S&P 500 High Yield Corporate Bond Index. The index series is designed to be a more liquid and investable subset of the S&P 500 Bond Index.

1. What is the S&P 500 Bond Mega 30 Index Series?

The S&P 500 has been the flagship index tracking the U.S. equity market for over 50 years. Over the past few years, corporations have issued large amounts of debt, likely taking advantage of the lower interest rate environment. The S&P 500 Bond Index Series seeks to track debt issued by companies in the S&P 500.

The S&P 500 Bond Mega 30 Investment Grade Index is composed of 30 bonds, representing the largest investment-grade bond issues of the S&P 500. The bonds are selected from the S&P 500 Investment Grade Corporate Bond Index.

The S&P 500 Bond Mega 30 High Yield Index is composed of 30 bonds, representing the largest high-yield bond issues from the S&P 500. The bonds are selected from the S&P 500 High Yield Corporate Bond Index.

In addition, there are two maturity-based indices that track the 30 largest bond issues in the three- to five-year and five- to seven-year maturity ranges for both investment-grade and high-yield issuers, as well as a one- to three-year maturity-based index for the investment-grade series.

2. What are some of the key benefits of the S&P 500 Bond Mega 30 Index Series?

Over the past few years, the growing debt pool issued by corporations has driven the need for independent indices to track different aspects of that market. The new S&P 500 Mega Bond Indices track bonds with larger issue sizes that typically trade with greater frequency and enhanced transparency, and therefore tend to have higher liquidity.

- Liquidity: To help ensure liquidity, the largest bond by par amount outstanding is used for each issuer.
- Composition: Comprises bonds from the widely followed, large-cap companies tracked in the S&P 500 with one bond per issuer represented.
- High Quality: As of July 31, 2018, the weighted average rating for the S&P 500 Bond Mega 30 Investment Grade Index was A-/A3/A, and for the S&P 500 Bond Mega 30 High Yield Index the weighted average rating is BB/Ba2/BB+ by S&P Global Ratings/Moody's/Fitch, respectively.
- Small Constituent Number: Each index comprises 30 bonds for manageability.
- Weighting: Each index is equal weighted to avoid overexposure to any one issuer.

- Performance: The indices closely replicate performance of their significantly broader parents S&P 500 Investment Grade Corporate Bond Index and the S&P 500 High Yield Corporate Bond Index.
- Transparency: The index aims to make opaque bond markets more transparent by focusing on issuers that are already familiar to market participants. Results are published on www.spdji.com and constituents can be found here.

Performance Disclosure

The S&P 500 Dividend Aristocrats Bond Select 30 Index was launched on March 10, 2017. All information presented prior to an index's Launch Date is hypothetical (back-tested), not actual performance. The back-test calculations are based on the same methodology that was in effect on the index Launch Date. Complete index methodology details are available at www.spdji.com.

S&P Dow Jones Indices defines various dates to assist our clients in providing transparency. The First Value Date is the first day for which there is a calculated value (either live or back-tested) for a given index. The Base Date is the date at which the Index is set at a fixed value for calculation purposes. The Launch Date designates the date upon which the values of an index are first considered live: index values provided for any date or time period prior to the index's Launch Date are considered back-tested. S&P Dow Jones Indices defines the Launch Date as the date by which the values of an index are known to have been released to the public, for example via the company's public website or its datafeed to external parties. For Dow Jones-branded indices introduced prior to May 31, 2013, the Launch Date (which prior to May 31, 2013, was termed "Date of introduction") is set at a date upon which no further changes were permitted to be made to the index methodology, but that may have been prior to the Index's public release date.

Past performance of the Index is not an indication of future results. Prospective application of the methodology used to construct the Index may not result in performance commensurate with the back-test returns shown. The back-test period does not necessarily correspond to the entire available history of the Index. Please refer to the methodology paper for the Index, available at www.spdji.com for more details about the index, including the manner in which it is rebalanced, the timing of such rebalancing, criteria for additions and deletions, as well as all index calculations.

Another limitation of using back-tested information is that the back-tested calculation is generally prepared with the benefit of hindsight. Back-tested information reflects the application of the index methodology and selection of index constituents in hindsight. No hypothetical record can completely account for the impact of financial risk in actual trading. For example, there are numerous factors related to the equities, fixed income, or commodities markets in general which cannot be, and have not been accounted for in the preparation of the index information set forth, all of which can affect actual performance.

The Index returns shown do not represent the results of actual trading of investable assets/securities. S&P Dow Jones Indices LLC maintains the Index and calculates the Index levels and performance shown or discussed, but does not manage actual assets. Index returns do not reflect payment of any sales charges or fees an investor may pay to purchase the securities underlying the Index or investment funds that are intended to track the performance of the Index. The imposition of these fees and charges would cause actual and back-tested performance of the securities/fund to be lower than the Index performance shown. As a simple example, if an index returned 10% on a US $100,000 investment for a 12-month period (or US $10,000) and an actual asset-based fee of 1.5% was imposed at the end of the period on the investment plus accrued interest (or US $1,650), the net return would be 8.35% (or US $8,350) for the year. Over a three year period, an annual 1.5% fee taken at year end with an assumed 10% return per year would result in a cumulative gross return of 33.10%, a total fee of US $5,375, and a cumulative net return of 27.2% (or US $27,200).
