S&P Dow Jones Indices Announces a Consultation on the Eligibility of Non-Voting Share Classes

NEW YORK, APRIL 3, 2017: S&P Dow Jones Indices (“SPDJI”) is conducting a consultation with members of the investment community on the eligibility of non-voting share classes in S&P DJI indices. This potential change may affect some or all S&P and Dow Jones-branded benchmark and investable equity indices.

QUESTIONS:

1. If the only listed share classes of a company do not have voting rights, should that company be eligible for inclusion in an index?

2. For companies with multiple-class structures where one or more listed share class is non-voting:
   - Should only the non-voting share classes be ineligible?
   - Should all share classes be ineligible?
   - Should all share classes be eligible?

3. If the company does not file information statements regarding shareholder ownership, should the company be ineligible for inclusion?

4. If the methodology were to exclude all share classes so the company is not eligible, should current constituents be “grandfathered” and remain in the index?

5. Should eligibility of non-voting shares differ in benchmark vs investable index families?

6. Do you have any additional comments?

Your participation in this consultation is important as we gather information from various market participants in order to properly evaluate your views and preferences. Your responses will be kept confidential. Please respond to this survey by May 3, 2017. After this date, S&P Dow Jones Indices will no longer accept survey responses. Prior to the Index Committee’s final review, S&P Dow Jones Indices will consider the issues and may request clarifications from respondents as part of that review. Alternative options to the proposed questions after the deadline require that the consultation be re-opened to the public.
