

S&P Dow Jones Indices Announces Treatment of Argentina Capital Controls

NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 11, 2019: Following the recent imposition of capital controls in Argentina, S&P Dow Jones Indices (“S&P DJI”) today announces that all share changes for Argentinian listed securities resulting from the September 2019 quarterly rebalance have been suspended and will not be implemented at the upcoming rebalance for all global S&P Dow Jones Indices. Please refer to the end-of-day files (*.SDE, *PRO.SDC) for updated files beginning tonight. In addition, all non-mandatory corporate events, such as weekly share change announcements, for Argentinian listed securities will be suspended until further notice.

S&P DJI is monitoring market developments and reviewing their potential impact on the accessibility of Argentina and the replication of indices. S&P DJI’s 2019 country classification consultation is currently open for client comments through October 15, 2019. Clients are invited to provide feedback on the impact of the recent capital controls in Argentina and their impact on the treatment of Argentinian listed securities in S&P DJI’s indices.

Please note these changes are applicable only to the global index families calculated by S&P DJI. The upcoming rebalance and future non-mandatory corporate events for the S&P/BYMA Index Family will not be suspended as a result of these changes.

S&P DJI will continue to monitor the situation and release further updates as more information becomes available.
